

HYSTERESIS / REMANENCE

Inventor James Alfred Ewing Year ~1890

Describes the persistence of an effect after the causing force stopped e.g. In (electro-) magnetism reproducible

Old tube televisions tended to become magnetic after a while, which resulted in a bad image, so they had to be "degaussed"

Use Cases

For example, Attempt to delete a deliberately incorrectly played behavior pattern again

HYSTERESIS / REMANENCE

Inventor James Alfred Ewing Year ~1890

Describes the persistence of an effect after the causing force stopped e.g. In (electro-) magnetism reproducible

Old tube televisions tended to become magnetic after a while, which resulted in a bad image, so they had to be "degaussed"

Use Cases

For example, Attempt to delete a deliberately incorrectly played behavior pattern again